LETTER FROM WASHINGTON CITY

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON, Saturday, June 20 1868.

THE TAX BILL—WHISKY AND TOBACCO

Last Monday the House passed a resolution by a vote of 74 to 64, to recommit the tax bill to the Committee of Ways and Means, and instructing the Committee to report without delay a separate bill for the revision of the taxes on the manufacture and sale of whisky and tobacco. Mr Schenck, Chairman of the Committee, opposed the resolution with a good deal of spirit. He said the Committee, composed of nine members, had sat more than five months preparing the bill. During that time they had worked most laboriously, and hundreds and thousands of persons representing all the various interests of the country had been before the Committee and had been consulted. They had endeavored to present a bill which covers all the ground, embraces all the subjects of taxation. He strenuously opposed the motion to break the entirety of the bill, and to confine the attention of Congress to the subject of distilled spirits and tobacco. In this view he was supported by every member of the Committee of Ways and Means. But the weather is getting warm, and a great many members are anxious to go home to look after the elections, and other matters, and so they decided to consider nothing but whisky and tobacco. Nearly every Democrat except Brooks and Niblack, who are members of the Committee of Ways and Means, voted to postpone the bill, and a sufficient number of Republicans voted with them to give a majority. The bill as prepared by the Committee, was very lengthy, but the House had got through with nearly 20 pages and would have disposed of the remainder in ten days or two weeks. However, the advocates of postponement argued that the Senate would spend all summer on the bill, so that its passage would be impossible at the present session, while in the meantime the whisky thieves would defraud the Government of the revenue. The Committee of Ways and Means are culling out the items which relate to whisky and tobacco, and will present them to the House in a separate bill in a few days.

PAPER CURRENCY

On Monday the Senate had under consideration a bill relating to National currency. Mr. Morrill of Vermont, offered an amendment that on the issue of any increase of National circulation provided for in the bill, the Secretary of the Treasury shall withdraw from circulation an equal amount of United States notes. The amendment was lost—16 yeas to 27 nays. Corbett voted in the affirmative and Williams in the negative. Messrs Morrill, Conkling, Morton and Corbett took strong ground against any further expansion of the currency and in favor of a return to specie payments. Conkling opposed the proposition for the twenty millions increase, and Morton denounced it as the commencement of a new financial policy which would not stop at $20,000,000 but would end in the issue of $100,000,000. He said inflation caused two prices for everything—the real price and the speculative price, and as labor cannot be placed in a warehouse and held for an enhanced price, the price of labor was the last thing to be increased. Gold was still the standard of value, legal tender notes being but the standard of prices. He declared that no return to specie payment could be had without keeping the promise of the Government and paying the greenbacks in gold, and denounced every other financial scheme except a return to specie payment as a quack nostrum. Mr. Corbett advocated an immediate or speedy return to specie payment. Tuesday was spent on the bill, without coming to a final vote. Mr. Wilson made a strong argument against inflation and in favor of a speedy return to specie payment. He pronounced the whole system of paper currency as redounding to the interest of jobbers and speculators, and against the interests of the laboring people of the country. Henderson made a long speech in favor of inflation and against a return to specie payment. Mr. Corbett again argued against inflation, and insisted that the twenty million increase was nothing but a proposition for inflation. An amendment was offered by Mr. Davis, providing that the twenty millions to be distributed among the States of the west, shall be withdrawn from the States of the east, having an excess of banking capital, thus preventing any further expansion of paper currency. This amendment was adopted—26 yeas to 16 nays. Corbett in the affirmative and Williams in the negative. On Wednesday the debate was continued, and Sprague spoke against inflation, but opposed the bill. The bill then passed—25 to 14. It provides for the issue of notes to banking associations in States and Territories having less than five dollars per inhabitant, but the amount thus issued must not exceed $20,000,000, and this must be withdrawn within one year pro rata from banking institutions having more than their proportion of national currency under the act of March 3, 1865, and the new notes shall only be issued as circulation is withdrawn, so that the aggregate circulation shall not at any time exceed $300,000,000.

THE CHINESE EMBASSY

On Monday the Senate passed a resolution inviting the Chinese Embassy to visit the Senate chamber on Wednesday. Accordingly, at 1 o'clock of that day, Mr. Burlingame and the Chinese made their appearance at the west portico of the Senate wing, and were escorted by a committee to the Senate chamber, where they were formally introduced to the Senate. Sumner escorted Burlingame, and Sherman and Hendricks led the two mandarins, the other Chinese following in the rear. The galleries were crowded with spectators. On Thursday they visited Lincoln depot, and witnessed a military review ordered expressly for their entertainment.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION CASE

Last Saturday the Senate passed a bill to regulate contested elections in the District of Columbia. The House passed the bill on Monday without amendment. It makes the certificate of the register prima facie proof of the election and authorizes the person holding it to proceed with the duties of the office to which he claims to have been elected, empowers the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia to enforce the right of any person holding the certificate of the register, prescribes the mode in which the contestant may proceed to test his right before the courts, and authorizes the Mayor, when the legal organization of the Board of Aldermen and Common Council shall be delayed on account of any contest in relation to the election of any member of either of said Boards, to make temporary appointments. This will settle the present difficulties at the City Hall by allowing the Councils to organize (the legality of the present organization and of the new Boards being in dispute) and enable the Supreme Court of the District to decide who the legally elected officers are without delay. Under the law as it existed the point in question could not have been decided till the term of the present officers would have expired, and the city would have been left in a state of anarchy during the next two years.

BOAT RACING

The annual regatta of the National Yacht Club took place last Monday on the Potomac between Washington City and Fort Washington, sixteen miles below here. The race was won by the Gov n, named after the defeated Democratic candidate for Mayor. Boat racing is now fairly inaugurated for the season, and will be a favorite pastime with the sporting community during the summer as it was last summer. Several steamboats went down the river to carry spectators. The sail boats, eight or ten in number, made the distance between the flag stake in the river opposite the city to the flag stake opposite Fort Washington and returned, 32 miles, in from eight to nine hours, a part of the time against wind and tide.

PROPOSITION TO REMOVE THE CAPITAL

Last Monday General Logan offered a resolution authorizing the Speaker to appoint a Committee of five members to inquire into the propriety and expediency of removing the seat of the General Government to a point near the geographical centre of the Republic. The resolution was voted down—43 yeas to 67 nays. The preamble accompanying the resolution set forth that a large portion of the citizens of the District of Columbia are disloyal, have determined to set the laws of Congress at defiance, to shield and defend conspirators and assassins, to menace and insult the Representatives of the people, are at the present time attempting by revolutionary measures to overthrow the legally constituted authorities by preventing them from the due exercise of their legal functions, thus tending to produce riots and [illegible] lished, and rendering the city undesirable as a residence and an unsafe and unfit place for Congress to assemble in, etc. The feeling is gaining strength every year in favor of removing the seat of government to the Mississippi Valley. It is said that the marble and granite of the Capitol, Patent Office, Post Office and Treasury, the only buildings worth moving, can be taken down and removed to the West for ten million dollars.

CHASE WANTS THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION

Chief Justice Chase has just returned from a tour through the South, where he has been courting the favor of the rebel leaders and the negroes. While in Richmond he visited the African Church in company with that pink of chivalry, Henry A. Wise. And a correspondent telegraphed from Richmond to the New York Herald that he was authorized to contradict the statement that Mr. Chase would decline a nomination by the Democratic Convention. From Richmond, Chase continued his pilgrimage to South Carolina beneath the burning sun of June. On his return to this city it is said that Mr. Chase visited his friend Andrew Johnson, and laid before that distinguished patriot his opinion of the condition of affairs in the South, and received from Andy the gratifying assurance that he was very desirous that the Democratic party should nominate him (Chase) for the Presidency next July, in which case he (the aforesaid Andy) would throw the whole weight of the Administration on the side of his "honor," which he felt confident would be sufficient to defeat the "radical party." It is understood that Mr. Johnson said that, after the Chief Justice his next choice would be Hancock, and then Hendricks, but that in no event would he support Pendleton. Chase is unquestionably working hard for the nomination and may possibly get it, but I think he will be likely to fail.

CONGRESSIONAL

A bill passed the Senate day before yesterday, relieving about 1,200 citizens, mostly of North Carolina, from political and civil disabilities in consequence of their connection with the rebellion. Among those named in the bill are Gov. Brown, Gov. Holden, Gen. Longstreet, and many other prominent rebels. The bill passed the Senate by a vote of 35 to 5—only two Democrats—Reverdy Johnson and Patterson of Tennessee—voting for it. Yesterday it failed in the House for want of a two thirds majority—the vote being 76 yeas to 30 nays on concurring in an amendment made by the Senate. A motion to reconsider was made and the bill will come up again next Monday, when it will probably pass. The House has spent a good deal of time lately on commercial bills. The river and harbor bill, making appropriations for the improvement of navigable waters, a bill to regulate the carrying of passengers by ocean steamers, bills changing boundaries of collection districts, bills providing for changes in the mail service, etc. After disposing of the currency bill, the Senate has spent most of the week in considering bills of a commercial nature, not important to the general reader. Yesterday Mr. Corbett called up the bill for the sale of the Umatilla Reservation, and it was passed. The bill in relation to the central branch of the Union Pacific Railroad, was under consideration yesterday when the Senate adjourned. It will come up again next Monday.

Among the officers confirmed by the Senate during the present week is James Carey, Collector of Internal Revenue for the 1st District of California. The Senate rejected J. T. Portlan as Assessor of Internal Revenue for the 5th District of California.

K

Charles A. Dana

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

Charles A. Dana is a native of Massachusetts, having been born near Boston somewhere about the year 1820. He entered Harvard College quite early, and left it just before graduating, on account of the failure his eyes from excessive study.

BROOK FARM

From the university he went to Brook Farm, the famous community founded in the spring of 1841 by George Ripley, who had retired from the pulpit of the Purchase Street (Unitarian) Church, Boston, to carry out his ideas of a pure Democracy at West Roxbury. At Brook Farm Dana, in connection with Ripley, took charge of the school, and was an excellent teacher, having fitted George William Curtis and other youths, since famous, for college. Greek, German and mathematics were among the branches he taught in the community, also giving instruction at a Theological Seminary a few miles distant. He remained at this farm for six years and married while he was there, but withdrew from it some months before its dissolution to take an editorial position on the Boston Chronotype, a paper of reputation and influence, which he largely assisted to improve.

THE TRIBUNE

After remaining some time on the Chronotype he came to New York, and connected himself with the Tribune as managing editor, a position he held for fifteen years. Everyone in the office bore witness to his excellent management of the journal, which was never better than when under his control. He worked easily but successfully, and manifested excellent judgment in selecting the right men for the right place, something in which he has no superior in the metropolis.

HIS CLASHING WITH GREELEY.

Greeley and Dana often clashed in their views, particularly after the breaking out of the war, the editor-in-chief seeming to the manager to lack firmness and consistency of purpose. So wide and frequent were their variances of opinion that Greeley, who has always felt that he, and he only, should be the autocrat of the Tribune, at length grew much embittered against Dana, because the latter would not let him have his own way. When H. G. would write an article, as he often did, that Dana could not approve, the manager would order it to lie over, believing the editor-in-chief would correct his judgment or alter his views if permitted to reflect upon them. Often he did come to a different conclusion, but his editorials were so frequently allowed to stand upon the galleys that the elder journalist quite lost his temper.

H. G. PROFANETH

It is said in the office, that on one occasion some friend of the Tribune had left a communication with Dana, and had called a number of times to see why it was not inserted without meeting the managing editor. Greeley happened to be in the sanctum one day when the man called. He complained of the neglect, and remarked to the editor-in-chief: "Dana told me he would insert my article, and it's now ten days since I left it, and not a word of it has appeared. I wish you would look after it, Greeley." "G—d—n it, don't talk to me about it, or about Dana's obstinacy. I can't help your case a bit. I can't do you any good with Dana. Why he won't print my articles, d—n him."

A MOOTED QUESTION

A good deal has been said, and considerable controversy has arisen, touching the point whether Dana did or did not, at any time, order out Greeley's articles. Dana has never given evidence to the matter, and Greeley has declared the manager did nothing of the sort. Perhaps Dana never suppressed H. G.'s editorials, but if he did not hold them over again and again, after they had been marked "must go in," the editors and printers of the establishment are gravely in error.

THE FINAL QUARREL

H. G. at last waxed very restive under the peculiar treatment, as he conceived it, of his managing editor, and declared to the stockholders that either he or Dana must leave the Tribune. Most of them were of the opinion that the course Dana had pursued was the best one for the interests of the paper, but they did not like to lose their invincible chief, and thought if that were the alternative, H. G. must be humored. Before the question was voted upon Dana resigned his office, and, convinced that he had been most conscientious in the discharge of his duty, he naturally felt aggrieved at the editor-in-chief, and many of the shareholders, and has declined to recognize them since that day. He owned ten shares, but [illegible] and sold them promptly at $3,000 a share, though they are now quoted at $6,250. Not a few of the stockholders who sided, from policy, with Greeley on that occasion, no doubt repented of their action, and discovered Dana was in the right.

THE SECRETARYSHIP OF WAR.

After leaving the Tribune Dana was appointed Assistant Secretary of War and filled the position with credit. He was for some months with General Grant in the Southwest, and is said to have rendered him efficient service. He certainly was very active and energetic, and felt a profound interest in the prosecution of the very important campaign ending with the fall of Vicksburg, which according to the rebel newspapers almost broke the Confederate heart, and, which was of much more consequence to us, nearly broke the Confederate head.

Dana resigned the Secretaryship to go to Chicago on a salary of $10,000 a year. While there he did not equal the expectations that had been formed of him as a journalist, and soon left the paper. His friends account for his lack of success by stating that he was so hampered that he could not do anything he wanted.

THE SUN.

Dana then returned to New York and began to make arrangements for the issue of a new evening paper. So much was said of this enterprise, and so great was the delay, that Dana's new journal became almost a jest in the region of Printing House Square. No one really believed he would start it, and correspondents of the country press grew facetious over the eternal daily that could not get born. When he purchased the old Tammany Hall, however, and put presses in the building, the public believed him in earnest, and bent on carrying out his design. Last winter he bought the old Sun of Moses S. Beach for $175,000, and in February he issued the first number of the new Sun at the corner of Chatham and Frankfort streets.

The capital of the Sun is $350,000, and the paper has thus far been an equivocal success. It has, it is said, a circulation of 50,000 [illegible] daily and is making $1,200 to $1,500 a week. The office is one of the best publishing offices in the country, having all the latest facilities and improvements required for such a[illegible].

The Sun started as a kind of Grant organ, but of late it has veered like the Herald, to be on all sides, or like Buckingham, according to Dryden, "everything by turns, and nothing long." Dana has always been considered a [illegible] Republican, but his friends think he is now indulging in the sensational vein to make his paper talked about. If that be his object he has succeeded. He has made, and still makes, an excellent journal, and though he has probably lost many old subscribers among the workingmen, he has gained quite as many more of the other class.

THE MAN FINANCIALLY AND PRIVATELY.

Dana is said to own $50,000 in the Sun, and to receive $5,000 for his services as editor-in-chief. He is always to be found at his office from noon to 5 o'clock, and though he does not work very hard himself he supervises the paper and sees everything that goes into its columns.

He has prepared several volumes for publication, not to speak of the new American Cyclopædia, which he edited in company with George Ripley, and from which he derives a fair income. He is supposed to be in very comfortable and wholly independent circumstances, and appears to enjoy the advantages of an easy conscience and excellent digestion.

He is the father of three our four children, the eldest of whom is now mature and married. He is of medium size, a little inclined to heaviness, though light and agile in his movements. He has brown hair and whiskers, a [illegible], light, genial eyes, a somewhat [illegible], very agreeable manners, and an air of [illegible] and candor that is [illegible]. He has just completed his life of Grant, in which he has been assisted by James Grant Wilson, and which promises to be one of the most popular of the many biographies of the distinguished Captain.

Dana must feel much satisfaction in controlling a New York journal once more. He has vindicated himself as a journalist through the Sun, and will no doubt extend its influence beyond that of any daily of its size and price in the country.

J. H. B.

The San Francisco Call falls into the wake of its big brother, the New York World. Referring to the passage of the omnibus [illegible] bill over the President's veto, it says:

"The admission of these States, allows their citizens to take part in the coming Presidential election and makes negro suffrage [illegible] fact that [illegible] new political [illegible] not hereafter deal with negro suffrage [illegible] question, as a proposition, but we must deal with it as an existing reality. Six eighths of the [illegible] of the South are admitted to the [illegible], and will with the white men of the North, cast their ballots for the next President. H[illegible] opposition to negro suffrage will mean nothing unless it means that the ballot [illegible] away from the negro."

That is just what the World says, and it adds that the Democracy have ever held, and do still hold, that Congress has no right to take the ballot away—it is a question for the States—and therefore cannot enter into a political contest!

Since the nomination of Colfax for Vice President, the life insurance companies are all anxious to insure General Grant's life for four years from the fourth of next March, at a homeopathic rate of premium. As long as Colfax lives, these astute calculators of life chances are perfectly satisfied that Grant's life is safe from Copperhead poisons and rebel assassinations.

The New York World, once a [illegible] and respectable journal, has been forced to get down to the Brick Pomeroy level. To suit the requirements of the D[illegible] the journalist must necessarily produce [illegible] substances.

EXTINGUISHER
SELF-ACTING FIRE ENGINE!

TILL NOW FIRES HAVE ONLY BEEN MET BY means too SLOW, too LATE and too CUMBERSOME. The time lost in sending for Engines, &c. &c., and in getting them into working order, has too oft proved fatal, and accidents slight at first, have thus become DISASTROUS CALAMITIES.

This new Engine is POWERFUL and PROMPT, capable of being used at any time and in any place, and of thus subduing a fire at the moment of its Discovery, even when of an alarming extent, and also preventing the greater damage caused by the deluge of water now required to arrest the progress of the [illegible].

INEXPENSIVE, so simple in its construction that the mere turning of a tap puts it into full and complete action, warranted Harmless to Life, Health and Property, always ready for instant service (though standing unused for years), so portable that any person carries it without hindrance to active exertion, entirely self-acting and self propelling, so that all the bearer has to do is to direct the jet by means of a flexible tube, [illegible] within itself the power of a Force Pump, and contains a Chemical Liquid (perpetually [illegible]) every drop of which has a magical effect. Less than one-half the contents of the EXTINGUISHER is sufficient to extinguish fires large and fierce as they may be in their earliest stages.

In cases where no supply of water can be immediately obtained the EXTINGUISHER is invaluable to avert the greatest calamity, individuals and communities are [illegible] to.

They occupy no more space than a bucket of water and are indispensable for Churches, Warehouses, [illegible] Factories, Railway Stations, Private Dwellings, &c.

For Ships they are as necessary as LIFE BOATS.

Report of the Heads of the Fire Department.

OFFICE CHIEF ENGINEER METROPOLITAN FIRE DEP'T,
FIREMAN'S HALL,
New York, Jan. 30, 1867.

Messrs. LEVY BROS.—Gentlemen: Having been present on Monday, the 14th inst., at an experimental demonstration given by you with the Extinguisher Portable Self Acting Fire Engine, we take pleasure in expressing our opinion of its working. From its portability and power to project the gas and water to a considerable distance and extinguish flame, we consider that it would be a most valuable auxiliary to safety in any public building, especially when exposed to liability of fire from tar, lard oil, kerosene, etc., and would recommend its introduction in dwellings, hotels, warehouses, factories, theatres, ships, steamboats and public buildings, convinced that in the hands of a person with an ordinary degree of presence of mind it might often be the means of extinguishing what would otherwise become a large conflagration.

General Grant.

Copperhead editors are laboring as hard to belittle Grant's military talents as they labored to magnify McClellan's four years ago The New York World publishes and the Oregon Herald copies a statement that from the time Grant began the advance with the Army of the Potomac against Richmond on the 4th May, 1864 to the time when both armies reached the James on the 10th June following his losses were 117 000 men During the same period the rebel losses are put at 19,000 Grant is said to have had 222 000 men, while Lee had 70 000 We can't see the necessity for stating the case so unfavorably for the rebel cause The numbers of Grant's army as well as his losses might just as well be doubled again while Lee's on the other hand might just as well be diminished proportionally by dividing them once more by two As the World and Herald started out to make the best possible showing for the Democratic General relying solely on their imaginations for their figures and facts they ought to have performed the task much better than they have done

To show the great value of the World's present [illegible] of Grant as well as the excellence of the authority on which the Herald relies to prove the General's military incapacity, we quote the following from an editorial article published in the World in April 1865, after Grant had won his great victories

Apply to Gen. Grant what test you will — measure him by the magnitude of the obstacles he has surmounted, by the value of the positions he has gained, by the fame of the antagonist over whom he has triumphed, by the achievements of his most illustrious co-workers by the [illegible] with which he directs his indomitable energy to the vital point which is the key of a vast field of operations, or of that supreme test of commanding ability, the absolute completeness of his results, and he vindicates his [illegible] to stand next to Napoleon and Wellington, among the great soldiers of this century, if not on a level with the latter

This was the World's estimate of Grant before it began its course of partisan detraction

Let us, however, make a brief inquiry as to Grant's achievements and losses in his Richmond campaign His army when the advance began, numbered about 120 000 men For six weeks the fighting was almost incessant and often terrible The aggregate loss of the Army of the Potomac from May 5th to June 10th, as reported by official figures, was 7,289 killed, 35,942 wounded (more than half of whom were wounded but slightly and returned to the ranks in a short time) and 9,856 missing [illegible] The [illegible] foot up 54,531, less than half the number given by the World No official statement has [illegible] made of the rebel losses. It was their policy during this war to conceal these so as to deceive their people. We do know, however, that during this campaign our army took 15,373 prisoners, nearly half of whom were captured at one haul by General Hancock's corps. The rebel killed and wounded during this period could not have been less than 20,000, and was probably greater. About twenty of their Generals were killed, wounded or captured during the campaign [illegible] which fell into the hands of the Government [illegible] at the downfall of the rebellion [illegible] the returns of the strength of the principal rebel armies during the whole [illegible] of the war, and from these we learn [illegible] army in April, 1864, numbered 97,-[illegible] men. In June, its muster rolls showed [illegible] [illegible] force [illegible] did not exceed Lee's by more than 25,000, an excess which was more than counterbalanced by the [illegible] that the [illegible] was on the defensive and had [illegible] advantages of position. Butler's [illegible] of the James was opposed and held in check by Beauregard with troops [illegible] the Ca[illegible] so that Grant got no [illegible] from the movement from Fortress Monroe. So late as February, 1865, the [illegible] of Lee's army, now in the War Department at Washington, showed a force of [illegible] men, of whom 73,349 were reported present. On the first of March, but one [illegible] before the fall of Richmond, Lee reported 41,000 men still present for duty Of course [illegible] had a much larger force, but he was operating on an exterior line against a [illegible] admirably fortified, which had held out for four years against armies equally as large as that Grant then commanded

Democrats still extol McClellan's military [illegible] That commander went to the Peninsula early in 1862 with 160,000 men When President Lincoln went down to Harrison's Landing on the 8th July he found but 86,000 men there Those who are spending [illegible] to prove Grant's incapacity would find employment enough if they would undertake to show why McClellan, with as great [illegible] as Grant had, did not take Richmond while it was yet unfortified And while they are [illegible] Grant for losing so many men in his successful effort to take the rebel capital, they might enumerate the losses which McClellan sustained in not taking it Not less than 80,000 men were sacrificed by McClellan with no results. Grant took Richmond and Lee and his army and ended the war without suffering greater losses than McClellan sustained while he commanded the Army of the Potomac.

The Democratic National Platform condemns the "heresy of secession" Because the Union people of Oregon condemned that infernal "heresy" in 1861 and held meetings throughout the State to give the National Government encouragement and support in fighting it down, the Democratic Governor of Oregon issued a circular strongly reprehending their action and advising the meetings to be discontinued and the entire Democratic party throughout the State approved his sentiments. Then we were condemned for opposing the Democratic "heresy of secession" Now the Democrats themselves declare it a "heresy." We are slowly educating them They are just seven years behind the times But can intelligent, honest people act with such a party?

"PORTLAND EVENING COMMERCIAL —The first number of the Portland Evening Commercial—H P Bull proprietor — made its appearance on Saturday evening It is a sixteen column daily a trifle smaller than the Evening [illegible] and all things considered, presents a very respectable appearance. The introductory article indicating the course which the paper will pursue, says

We shall steer our bark clear of all political rocks that the influence of the paper shall be extended and enlarged to the [illegible] of our trade, commerce and prosperity is a material point Politics we propose to leave to politicians and party papers and religion to the clergy and sectarian [illegible] but upon all other [illegible] we hold to ourselves the right and deem it our duty to speak freely and independently" Mr Bull is a printer has had some experience in the editorial department and will, doubtless, succeed as a publisher

STATE ITEMS

The attendance at the big Democratic drunk at Salem from Multnomah and Clackamas counties was very slim Only one man a representative of [illegible] went from Oregon City Regular Democratic stomachs are so unsettled by heaving up the nominations that they cannot keep down the usual Democratic sustenance Hence there was no occasion to go

The E[illegible] of Saturday suggested that the Salem barbecue should be postponed till Monday the anniversary of the Irish riots which Seymour incited in 1863 Says the E[illegible] There will be enough Irish left to answer the purpose and they might roast a nigger or two to complete the feast

The Corvallis paper says An assault was made by Chas Wilson upon John Lienhard in the vicinity of the Belfountain camp meeting a few days since Wilson was arrested and taken to Monroe but was afterwards permitted a hearing at Corvallis Two or three shots were fired in the fray

Two camp meetings were in progress last week near Dallas They were held in the same grove Four thousand persons were in attendance upon the two services

The survey of Yaquina Bay has commenced The Corvallis paper is exceedingly rejoiced thereat

The Salem Record of Saturday says We went down last evening to see the Reliance come in loaded down with Democratic excursionists When the boat reached the wharf we were astonished to see an excited passenger swing his hat and sing out Three cheers for Grant and Colfax!" and they were given with a will There were about thirty Democrats on board—so the purser said The rest of them got left—of course they did

The Eugene Journal says that about a month ago two citizens of that place H R Bachelder and R F Foley left for the purpose of prospecting in Jackson county where they had prospected before and still believed that they could find good diggings there They sunk several prospect holes on Coyote Creek, near Grave Creek in Jackson county, and found a prospect sufficient to warrant them in the belief that their claims would pay from eight to ten dollars a day to the hand when worked properly Mr Foley came home to prepare to go out to commence work immediately while Mr Bachelder staid there to represent their claims

Haymaking has commenced in good earnest throughout the Willamette Valley The crops will be unusually good.

Seymour's Strategy

The Chicago Tribune of June 18th said That Seymour is the man who is to be nominated at New York we have no doubt This prediction the Tribune based upon what it deemed an absolute certainty that the New York wire-pullers and bondholders would control the nomination On the 4th July the Sacramento Union declared that Seymour was "lying in wait for the nomination," and that his numerous declarations were but dissembling devices to make the result surer And on the 6th July, three days before the nomination was made the Union said

We argued some weeks ago that the fact of Seymour's affecting to positively decline the New York nomination was the surest proof that he not only wanted it, but would leave no stone unturned to get it The telegram of Friday night which gravely informed us that he might be nominated by acclamation after half a dozen ballots more or less, and then "forced to accept," has a great deal of humor in its last clause—all the more side splitting if it be unintentional Those who have had experience of Seymour's method of getting nominations understand perfectly well how much force is required to secure their acceptance When he agreed to regard a renomination for the New York Governorship in 1864, as complimentary only, and promised to decline it, even his friends were somewhat astonished to see him enter the Convention after it was made and profess himself utterly unable to decline a re-nomination backed by so much enthusiasm His tactics in the present case have been similar and may have deceived delegates from a distance He has assiduously cultivated every section and every interest by professions of regard for its particular candidate, thus binding each to himself as its second choice Chase would hardly have had a bearing, perhaps but for his indorsement. In the Chief Justice, Seymour expects to conciliate the Southern loyal vote, of [illegible] vote he is secure enough Against Pendleton he has played Hendricks—an abler man and a Senator—non committal on the financial questions upon which the Ohio peace Democrat and repudiator has so thoroughly lost the confidence of the East At the same time, by his own professed resolution to decline Seymour has apparently won over Pendleton himself, so that it is said their forces will unite upon the latter on the first ballot to the number of 160 votes enough to secure a nomination by the majority rule, but almost a sure augury of defeat under the two thirds yoke of the Democracy Toward Hancock, also, Seymour has played the same amiable part, blowing his trumpet lustily, till he found a chance to drown it with another Thus he hopes to attract to himself something of that war sentiment which he has so vainly coquetted with hitherto, and to conquer the disgust excited by his famous Fourth of July oration in 1863, and his demagogic conduct during the riot which it helped to stir up This just antipathy destroyed his own chance for the nomination in 1864, which would otherwise have been excellent but Seymour will make a virtue of that necessity and claim McClellan's friends as his own on the strength of his helping nominate the latter at Chicago Thus on all sides this subtle and unscrupulous politician has continued to make of each competitor a dart in his own quiver

General Grant's Mississippi Order

The following letter, written by General Rawlins in reply to an inquiry from a gentleman at Louisville, explains the grounds upon which Gen Grant issued an order expelling Jews from the lines of the army

HEADQUARTERS ARMY UNITED STATES
Washington May 6 1868

SIR Your letter relating to the order of Gen Grant, dated Oxford Mississippi, December 17 1862, expelling Jews from his department, is before me You are doubtless aware that General Grant has never, either by himself or through the aid of his friends, attempted to defend any military order which the emergencies of the service seemed at the time to require However, as my name is attached to it as Assistant Adjutant General, it may not be improper to state that at and previous to its date our military affairs were in a most critical condition, and important movements were transpiring General Sherman was collecting forces at Memphis and Helena Gen Grant was moving steadily against Pemberton at Grenada, keeping up appearances of immediate attack, to divert his attention from Sherman and in co operation with Grant Dodge was moving south from Corinth The success of Grant's plans depended in keeping the enemy in ignorance of his real purpose namely the surprise and capture of Vicksburg by Sherman and it was therefore of the utmost importance that every avenue of information to the enemy should be closed

The most stringent orders had previously been published forbidding persons going or coming through our lines limiting traders to certain boundaries and prohibiting the passage of coin South or the payment of it for Southern products Persistent violations of these orders by persons principally of the Jewish race, were the subjects of constant reports by many of General Grant's subordinates, some of whom had even issued orders expelling them from the lines but which General Grant had promptly revoked Reports of the same character were also received from other than military sources At length on the evening of December 17th 1862 (the date of the order) the mail brought from Washington a large number of complaints officially referred to him by the General in Chief of the army against this class of persons, for violations of the above orders The General felt, on reading them that some immediate action was demanded of him He realized to its full extent the critical condition of military affairs, and judged whether wisely or unwisely, that to meet the exigency action must be immediate thorough and in a form not to be evaded The order you refer to was the result. It was written and telegraphed to his subordinates without revision, leaving all persons not justly amenable to its terms to be relieved on their individual application

The idea that it was issued on account of the religion of the Jews cannot be seriously entertained by any one who knows the General's steadfast adherence to the principles of American liberty and religious toleration Very respectfully your obedient servant, JOHN A RAWLINS

DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

DATES TO JULY 9

The Democratic Convention

NEW YORK July 9 The Democratic National Convention assembled at 10 20 A M

Mr Brodhead nominated Frank P Blair He eulogized his firmness of purpose great courage and indomitable will He would give all [illegible] meaning to his pledge to preserve and defend the Constitution

Weller of Pennsylvania complained that some remarks made by Tilden yesterday were offensive and in bad temper incidentally mentioning the name of Chase and the galleries broke out with great cheering

The chair announced that the 19th ballot would be taken

A delegate from California briefly nominated Judge Field for President Subdued cheers

Mr Vallandigham read a letter from Pendleton dated July 2d desiring the withdrawal of his name when the best interests of the party required it Vallandigham says McClean desired to present this letter yesterday, but the delegation thought it best to keep Pendleton through out yesterday

The roll was then called on the 19th ballot The result has been previously sent

The 20th ballot resulted as follows English 16 Hancock 142½ Doolittle 12; Hendricks 121 Blair 13 Field 9 Thos H Seymour 2

The 21st ballot showed little change, Pennsylvania still voting for Hancock and Kentucky for Hendricks Massachusetts gave Chase 4

Twenty second ballot When Ohio was called McCook said that by unanimous direction of his delegation and with the assent and approval of every public man of that State including Pendleton he put in nomination against his inclination but no longer against his honor, the name of Hon Horatio Seymour He said let us vote for a man whom the Presidency has sought and who has not sought the Presidency This he believed would drive from power the radical cabal at Washington He believed this nomination would command the unanimous approval of Democrats and conservative men of all sections, He asked on behalf of the country that Seymour [illegible] yield to this wish of the Convention

At this there was great excitement and applause the delegates rising and cheering Mr McCook cast the 21 votes of Ohio for Horatio Seymour [Renewed cheering] Mr Seymour rose and said he had no language in which to thank the Convention to express his regret that his name had been presented, but in a question affecting his duty and honor, he must stand by his opinion against the world He could not be nominated without putting himself and the Democratic party in peril When he declined he meant it He paid an eloquent tribute to Pendleton and his magnanimity He added, your candidate I cannot be

Vallandigham said that in times of great exigencies every personal consideration should give way He insisted that Horatio Seymour must yield to the demonstration in his behalf Ohio's vote must and should stand for Horatio Seymour He called upon several delegates to follow that lead

Francis Kernan, of New York, to relieve the New York delegation, said they have had no lot or part in this movement of Ohio. They had heard something of it but declined to take any part in it out of regard to the sensitiveness of the President of the Convention Until other States should show by their action that Mr Seymour was demanded by the party in the Convention New York would be silent He urged the necessity of success in the campaign and expressed his opinion that Mr Seymour could now accept the judgment of the Convention with honor and that he should yield as a matter of duty to its wish and with him for his candidate, Kentucky was good for 100,000 majority

The roll call was proceeded with, State after State casting its vote for Seymour, The States which had voted for other candidates changing to Seymour caused a scene of the utmost confusion The cannon on the street began firing a salute for the nominee and Mr Tilden, of New York rose Great interest was manifested to hear him, but the confusion was very great. He said that last evening he did not believe that the event which had now occurred could have taken place He had no expectation that Ohio would come to the support of the distinguished citizen of New York who had opposed Ohio's earnest wishes. In conclusion he announced the vote of New York solid for Seymour The Chairman announced the result—317, the entire vote of the Convention for Seymour A scene of the greatest enthusiasm ensued

Mr Preston, of Kentucky, moved to proceed to nominate a candidate for Vice President A new scene of confusion ensued A delegate from California eulogized Mr Haight, but said the State presented no candidate Mr Steele said this was a mistake A majority of the delegation nominated F. B Blair

Mr Bigler moved a recess for an hour which was finally carried On reassembling, Illinois presented the name of Gen McClernand calling him vastly superior in military ability to Grant McClernand rose, thanked the delegate for the honor, but declined. Iowa named Augustus C Dodge. Kansas named Gen Thomas Ewing, Jr in accordance with the wishes of the Soldiers and Sailors Convention Preston, of Kentucky, a Confederate officer, named General Blair, and said the soldiers of the South extended their hands to the soldiers of the North in token of amity and good will Mr Steadman seconded the nomination Wade Hampton, of South Carolina also seconded it. The names of Ewing and Dodge were withdrawn and Blair was nominated by a unanimous vote, all the States voting for him

A committee was appointed to inform the candidates of their nomination A resolution of thanks to the Tammany Society for the use of their hall was passed The thanks of the Convention were also tendered to Chief Justice Chase for the able and impartial manner with which he presided at the impeachment The Convention then adjourned

INDIAN AFFAIRS—MILITARY ORDER.—The following is the text of a general order issued Saturday ... from the Headquarters Department ... by order of Bvt Maj Gen Geo Crook. Pursuant to instructions from Maj Gen H W Halleck ... Division of the Pacific ... Maj Gen Crook held a council on the 30th of June ... principal bands of hostile Indians infesting the ... Malheur river Castle Rock Owyhee ... under the principal chief Weahweewa, when it was mutually agreed that they return to their ... their headquarters in the vicinity of Castle Rock, and that while they remain peaceable ... with citizens or their private property they shall not be molested.

The Commanding Officer of the Department is convinced that this proposal on the part of these Indians is prompted by the severe chastisements they have received during the past two years, during which time they have lost nearly half their number and that they are perfectly ... that a continuation of hostilities would lead to their extermination ... are and that they will keep ... provided ... do not ... and to ensure a permanent peace all officers and men in this department will respect the agreement thus made and use every endeavor to prevent the perpetration of such outrages.

All claims for the private property captured by these Indians and now turned over ... officers of posts or other military officers, provided it is clearly identified and proved as the claimant's ... to parties of property in the hands of the Indians will only lead to mutual misunderstanding and a renewal of the bloody scenes enacted during the past few years.

Citizens will be advised that their security must depend in a great degree upon the faithful observance on their part, of the peace thus made and they are earnestly enjoined in passing through the country occupied by Weahweewa's band ... nothing to provoke a renewal of hostilities and to the end that they may know what has been done ... how much depends upon their own conduct, officers will give this order as extended a publication as possible.

OFFICE—Southwest corner Front and Yamhill Streets opposite E. J. Northrup & Co's Hardware Store.

I am now making, amongst numerous other styles of ARTIFICIAL TEETH, the Improved Vulcanite Plates of Dr G W Cool's Patent patented Dec 3 1867, the improvement of which consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold. It not only makes the plate double as strong and cleanlier than the common Vulcanite Plate. It also can by it be made considerably thinner and lighter, whereas the price is but little above that for common plates. Call and see specimens.

N B—Dentists wishing to secure the office right for Dr G W Cool's Improved Vulcanite Plates can have it made out to them by applying to this office.

N B—To strangers I would say, that a constantly increasing Dental Practice for the last five years in this city will be a sufficient guarantee for them to receive a First-Class and Finished Piece of Work. Numerous testimonials to the same can be given at the office.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!
A Pure and Powerful Tonic,
Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.
PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.
Prevents Fever and Ague and Bilious Remittent Fevers;
Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water, invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels,
Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.
REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.
Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant, but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.
The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.
Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.
As a Genuine Tonic HOSTETTER'S BITTERS ... effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of ... Weakness, Premature Decay and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.
Last but not least it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

Many have heard of the curfew bell but [illegible] the time of William the Conqueror who ordered a bell to be rung at sundown in the [illegible] at which all fires and lights were to be put out and the people to remain within doors and penalties were imposed on those who refused or neglected to comply with the law. This was called the curfew—a word derived from the French [illegible] the oppression of the [illegible] William has been generally charged with instituting this custom in order to oppress his subjects [illegible]. But as the curfew bell was rung in France [illegible] before William's time as a safeguard against fires it is not improbable that he brought the custom with him into England from the continent and that he has been slandered as to his motives. At any rate he has sins enough to answer for without this. In the sixteenth century bellmen were added to the night watch in London. They went through the streets ringing their bells and crying "take care of fire and candle, be kind to the poor, and pray for the dead." It was the bellman's duty, also to bless the sleepers as he passed their doors. In Il Penseroso Milton refers to this custom:

The bellman's drowsy charm
To bless the doors from nightly harm.

The Republican party aims to bring the Government back to its early policy, to the fundamental principles of liberty, equality, fraternity, honesty and economy, as they existed in the first days of the republic. Slavery and its natural out-growth, modern Democracy, engendered prejudices and a spirit of caste that were wholly unknown at the time of the Revolution and the adoption of the Constitution. In the thirteen colonies which formed the Union "as it was," negroes voted in every one but South Carolina. Black men fought for freedom during the Revolution and cast their ballots for Washington, the first President of the new Republic. Black men fought at New Orleans and were highly complimented for their patriotism and bravery by General Jackson. Washington, Madison and their compeers, who framed our present Constitution, were elected to the convention in part by negro votes. Those early patriots and heroes were not afraid of being contaminated in going to the polls with black men. But in our day Copperheads and rebels are shocked at the idea that they should have to deposit their ballots with men whose skins are darker than their own. They are so much better and wiser than the patriots of the Revolution.

Shakespeare Claimed as German Property.—English pride has been deeply wounded in its tenderest point. A German enthusiast has questioned the claim of England to the genius of Shakespeare. Bandmann, who has recently been playing with distinguished success at the Lyceum Theatre in London made a speech a few weeks ago at the annual dinner of the Theatrical Fund, in which misguided man! he used the following extraordinary language:

The Germans, in fact, claimed Shakespeare quite as much as did the British nation, and one of the German lyric poets asserted that by right Shakespeare belonged to Germany alone, because, when Shakespeare's genius was sent from Heaven to earth, its destination was Germany, but, the wind blowing westwardly, it rested in England.

A Natural Movement.—One night Gen. Adams, of Tennessee, on returning to camp, was halted by a sentinel on an outpost. After giving the countersign, and telling the sentinel who he was, he got to questioning the man about his duties as sentinel.

General—"If you saw two men coming toward your post what would you do?"

Sentinel—"I would halt them, and then direct one to advance and give the countersign."

General—"If three or four should approach what would you do?"

Sentinel—"I would do the same thing."

General—"Suppose you saw a dozen coming, what then?"

Sentinel—"I would do the same thing."

General—"Suppose a whole regiment should come, what then?"

Sentinel—"I would form a line as quickly as possible."

General—"What kind of a line could you form by yourself?"

Sentinel—"A bee line for camp."

Misunderstood the Text.—A worthy deacon hired a journeyman farmer from a neighboring town for the summer, and induced him—although he was not accustomed to church going—to accompany the family to church on the first Sabbath of his stay. Upon their return to the deacon's house, he asked his hired man how he liked the preaching. He replied:

"I don't like to hear any minister of the gospel preach politics."

"I'm very sure you heard no politics to-day," said the deacon.

"I'm sure that I did," said the man.

"Mention the passages," said the deacon.

"I will," he said, "If the Republicans scarcely are saved, where will the Democrats appear?"

"Ah," said the deacon, "You mistake. These were the words: 'If the righteous scarcely are saved, how will the ungodly and wicked appear?'"

"O, yes," said the man, "he might have used those words, but I knew duced well what he meant."

The father of the Pacific Railroad, Dr Hartwell Carver, has lived to realize, in part, his [illegible] of one day crossing the continent by rail, as will be seen by the following which we find in a late Eastern paper:

[illegible] Carver, formerly of Minnesota, who was in Washington twenty-one years ago advocating the Utopian scheme of a Pacific Railroad, [illegible] to-morrow morning for Fort [illegible], to enjoy his first trip over the new [illegible]. He goes at the age of eighty, to found a new city, to bear his name—near the present terminus of the line. He claims to be the father of the Pacific road, and exhibits as curiosities the pamphlets which he published in favor of the enterprise in 1847.

The State of Delaware is a live State sure enough, and a Nasby would enjoy himself mightily there. They still keep up the whipping post as one of their most cherished institutions, and all the corners are adorned with one of these ornaments, there being no such thing as a Penitentiary for criminals in the State. Quite recently three white men were lashed for their crimes, and with characteristic impartiality three blacks were caught up and "put through" at the same time. That's the way to do it in an old time slave State.

A St. Louis merchant, who had given some information regarding whisky frauds, was accosted by two Government officials, and after some high words was assaulted by the officials. Later in the day he was assaulted in his own office by another Government officer, and was about to defend himself with a hatchet, when friends interfered and prevented further hostilities. In the same city last week an attempt was made to assassinate a revenue officer, and he was subsequently beaten by "the Thugs of the whisky ring."

The Democrats talk of putting Saulsbury up for President to catch the "toper" vote, which they fear will go for Grant. We hope they won't put up a drunkard, for there will then be no chance for us to capture a single Democratic vote. The fellows would flock about their "standard bearer" like bees about a sugar hogshead.

The Democracy are in a panic over the rumor that General Schofield, the new Secretary of War, begins his administration of the Department as a declared sympathizer with Congress and the Republicans.

The Chicago Times, under the head of "Ornithological," speaks of a chicken fight in one of the lowest dens of that city as "a series of chicken disputes."

Short Courtship.—"Rachel, the Lord hath sent me to marry thee," said the suitor. "The Lord's will be done," was the submissive reply.

If General McClellan, who didn't conquer Lee, possesses all the qualities of a great military leader, what rank is General Grant entitled to who did conquer him?

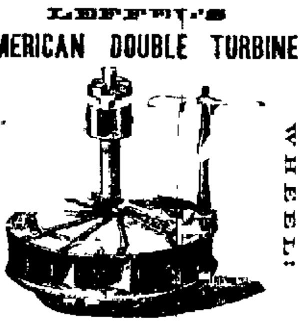
LEFFEL'S
AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE



These Wheels, unequalled and unrivalled in the United States or the world, have been fully tested on this coast, many being in use at this date, driving all kinds of machinery, Saw Mills, Flour Mills, Quartz Mills, Woolen Factories, &c., &c.

CAUTION.

To all whom it may concern: I hereby give notice that the so-called "Shipley's Pacific Turbine Water Wheel" is a direct infringement and copy of the "James Leffel's American Double Turbine Water Wheel," and its manufacture and use is hereby prohibited. Any person or persons making, using, constructing or vending said Water Wheels make themselves liable to heavy damages and penalties. Parties interested will take notice, for I shall prosecute said infringements to the utmost extent of the law.

That all may know I mean what I say and am not playing "bluff," I give the following extract from a legal opinion on this subject from one of the most eminent Patent Attorneys in the United States:

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 17, 1868.

"Mr. A. Myers—In accordance with your request we have examined the patents of Shipley on Water Wheels and are clearly of the opinion that they [illegible] infringe the Leffel patents. [illegible] Shipley's Wheels he uses the upper and lower tiers of buckets precisely as Leffel does, and in this he clearly infringes. The fact that Shipley has applied another series of buckets in addition to those used by Leffel does not relieve him from the consequences of infringement at all. He has no right to use those two tiers of buckets, whether alone or with a third or any other number of tiers added. It is a clear infringement. Respectfully yours,

DODGE & MUNN."

I hereby give notice that I will prosecute every infringement of our Patents, whether it is the manufacturer or seller. Every infringement, whether our claims are used in whole or in part, will be prosecuted.

To all whom it may concern:—One A. Myers is publishing and circulating a statement that my wheel is an infringement on the Leffel wheel and he will prosecute said infringement to the utmost extent of the Law. His statements are not worth a denial. Humbug is Bluff which, if he would only take the case to Court, would soon be played out. Don't believe him.

I would be glad to get a case into the United States Court and get a decision. That would forever stop the mouth of Myers and his misrepresentations. The legal opinions of more reputable lawyers than Dodge & Munn and A. Myers have pronounced my patents no infringement on the American Turbine. H. W. SHIPLEY

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES.

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of [illegible] and Seminal Diseases, such as [illegible], Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases of years standing, [illegible] successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are now suffering, untimely wasting on from the effects of [illegible] absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid emaciated and fatigued [illegible] unfitting them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies, see that they are carefully and well before it is too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his specialty for years and who is certain to cure them. [illegible] cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, [illegible] their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or degrading and secret indulgence is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use. For Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, Intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid impositions is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 462.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 462 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.
